CALL FOR PAPERS

2nd International Conference on Research and Industrial Advances in Additive Manufacturing

In its second edition, AM Connect brings together industry leaders, researchers, and innovators from Slovenia, Austria, and the wider European region to engage with the current frontiers of additive manufacturing – its applications, its underlying science, and its potential to reshape manufacturing value chains across our region. The program is designed as a cohesive two-day journey: Day 1 focuses on real-world industrial applications, while Day 2 provides the scientific research context for the challenges raised by industry. The conference is tailored for those working with AM daily – from engineers and scientists pushing process limits to decision-makers seeking a competitive edge.
